

Emmanuel Boudon, Director: Supplier Quality Development, Nissan

Emmanuel Boudon joined Nissan North America in Farmington Hills, MI in 2008 after a career in operations and general management with automotive suppliers. Over the past eleven years, he has rotated as a director with Nissan from Total Customer Satisfaction, through Purchasing of parts and tooling, to currently Supplier Quality Development. His focus is to strengthen the close collaboration between Nissan and suppliers in the USA, Mexico and Canada to develop top-level Nissan vehicles quality. Before entering the automotive world, he earned MS degrees in industrial engineering from Ecole Centrale in France and in mechanical engineering in Aachen, Germany, before graduating in business in Michigan where he moved with his family twenty years ago.